Fall Activities

There was much to be remembered about fall assemblies, guest speakers, and extra-curricular activities. A few people even remember Pat Neve.

Pat Neve is Mr. U.S.A., and his appearance before Central students this fall was best remembered by what he did not do. A muscle-man is expected to bare his chest to an admiring public; his contract, however, did not call for such an exhibition, and he refused to give one.

So it goes. Other fall speakers were Alfredo Gutierrez, Arizona Senate majority leader, and Leo Corbet, Arizona Senate minority leader, who debated state political issues.

The fall assemblies were primarily directed toward the athletes, with football garnering the most attention. Male cheerleaders matching legs with football players and a relay dressing game involving students and teachers were but two of the skits performed to chuckling audiences.

This year's pom line and cheerleaders performed at assemblies and football games, and the marching band, directed by Richard Stemple, won top honors in state competition at Tucson. The band performed at all home football games.

Travis Holcombe and Karen Dunlap were elected homecoming royalty, highlighting a myriad of activities during homecoming week. The activities included pie eating, apple bobbing, bubble gum blowing, and egg cracking. Drama students, during October, produced "Bell, Book, and Candle."

There was much to be remembered about the fall. Within this section are summaries of those activities which dominated after-school hours.

Fall Play

The Fall Play, "Bell Book and Candle" was presented in mid-October by Central's Masque and Gavel Club. "Bell, Book and Candle" is a three-act play written by John van Druten, and it starred Steve Burt, Bob Fergison, Ida Handley, Adam Mayer, and Ruth Selby. The play is about a witch named Gillian, played by Ida Handley, who casts a spell on Shepard Henderson, played by Adam Mayer, causing him to fall in love with her. Gillian has prevented her brother's book from being published, and her brother, Nicky, played by Steve Burt, sought revenge by removing the spell from Shep. The play was directed by Doug Cotner, drama instructor, and the assistant director and stage manager was Sheryl Stewart.

Fall Sports

Varsity Football. The varsity football team entered the 1977 season with confidence and readiness. Coming back from a 4-6 mark after a 70-17 record over the previous 10 years, the Bobcats hoped to regain their winning ways.

Central defeated Alhambra in the opening contest, but dropped its second game to Brophy. The next three games spelled victory as the Bobcats shut out West (13-0) and Carl Hayden (14-0), then upset state ranked Camelback (14-7).

From then on, the season got "rougher." South Mountain topped the Bobcats 27-10, then powerful St. Mary's squeeked by Central 12-9. Against undefeated and only once-scored-upon East, the Bobcats lost a 15-10 thriller and came within a misplaced pass of posting a 10-7 win. The loss to East was costly; star running back David Gibson injured his knee and was finished for the season.

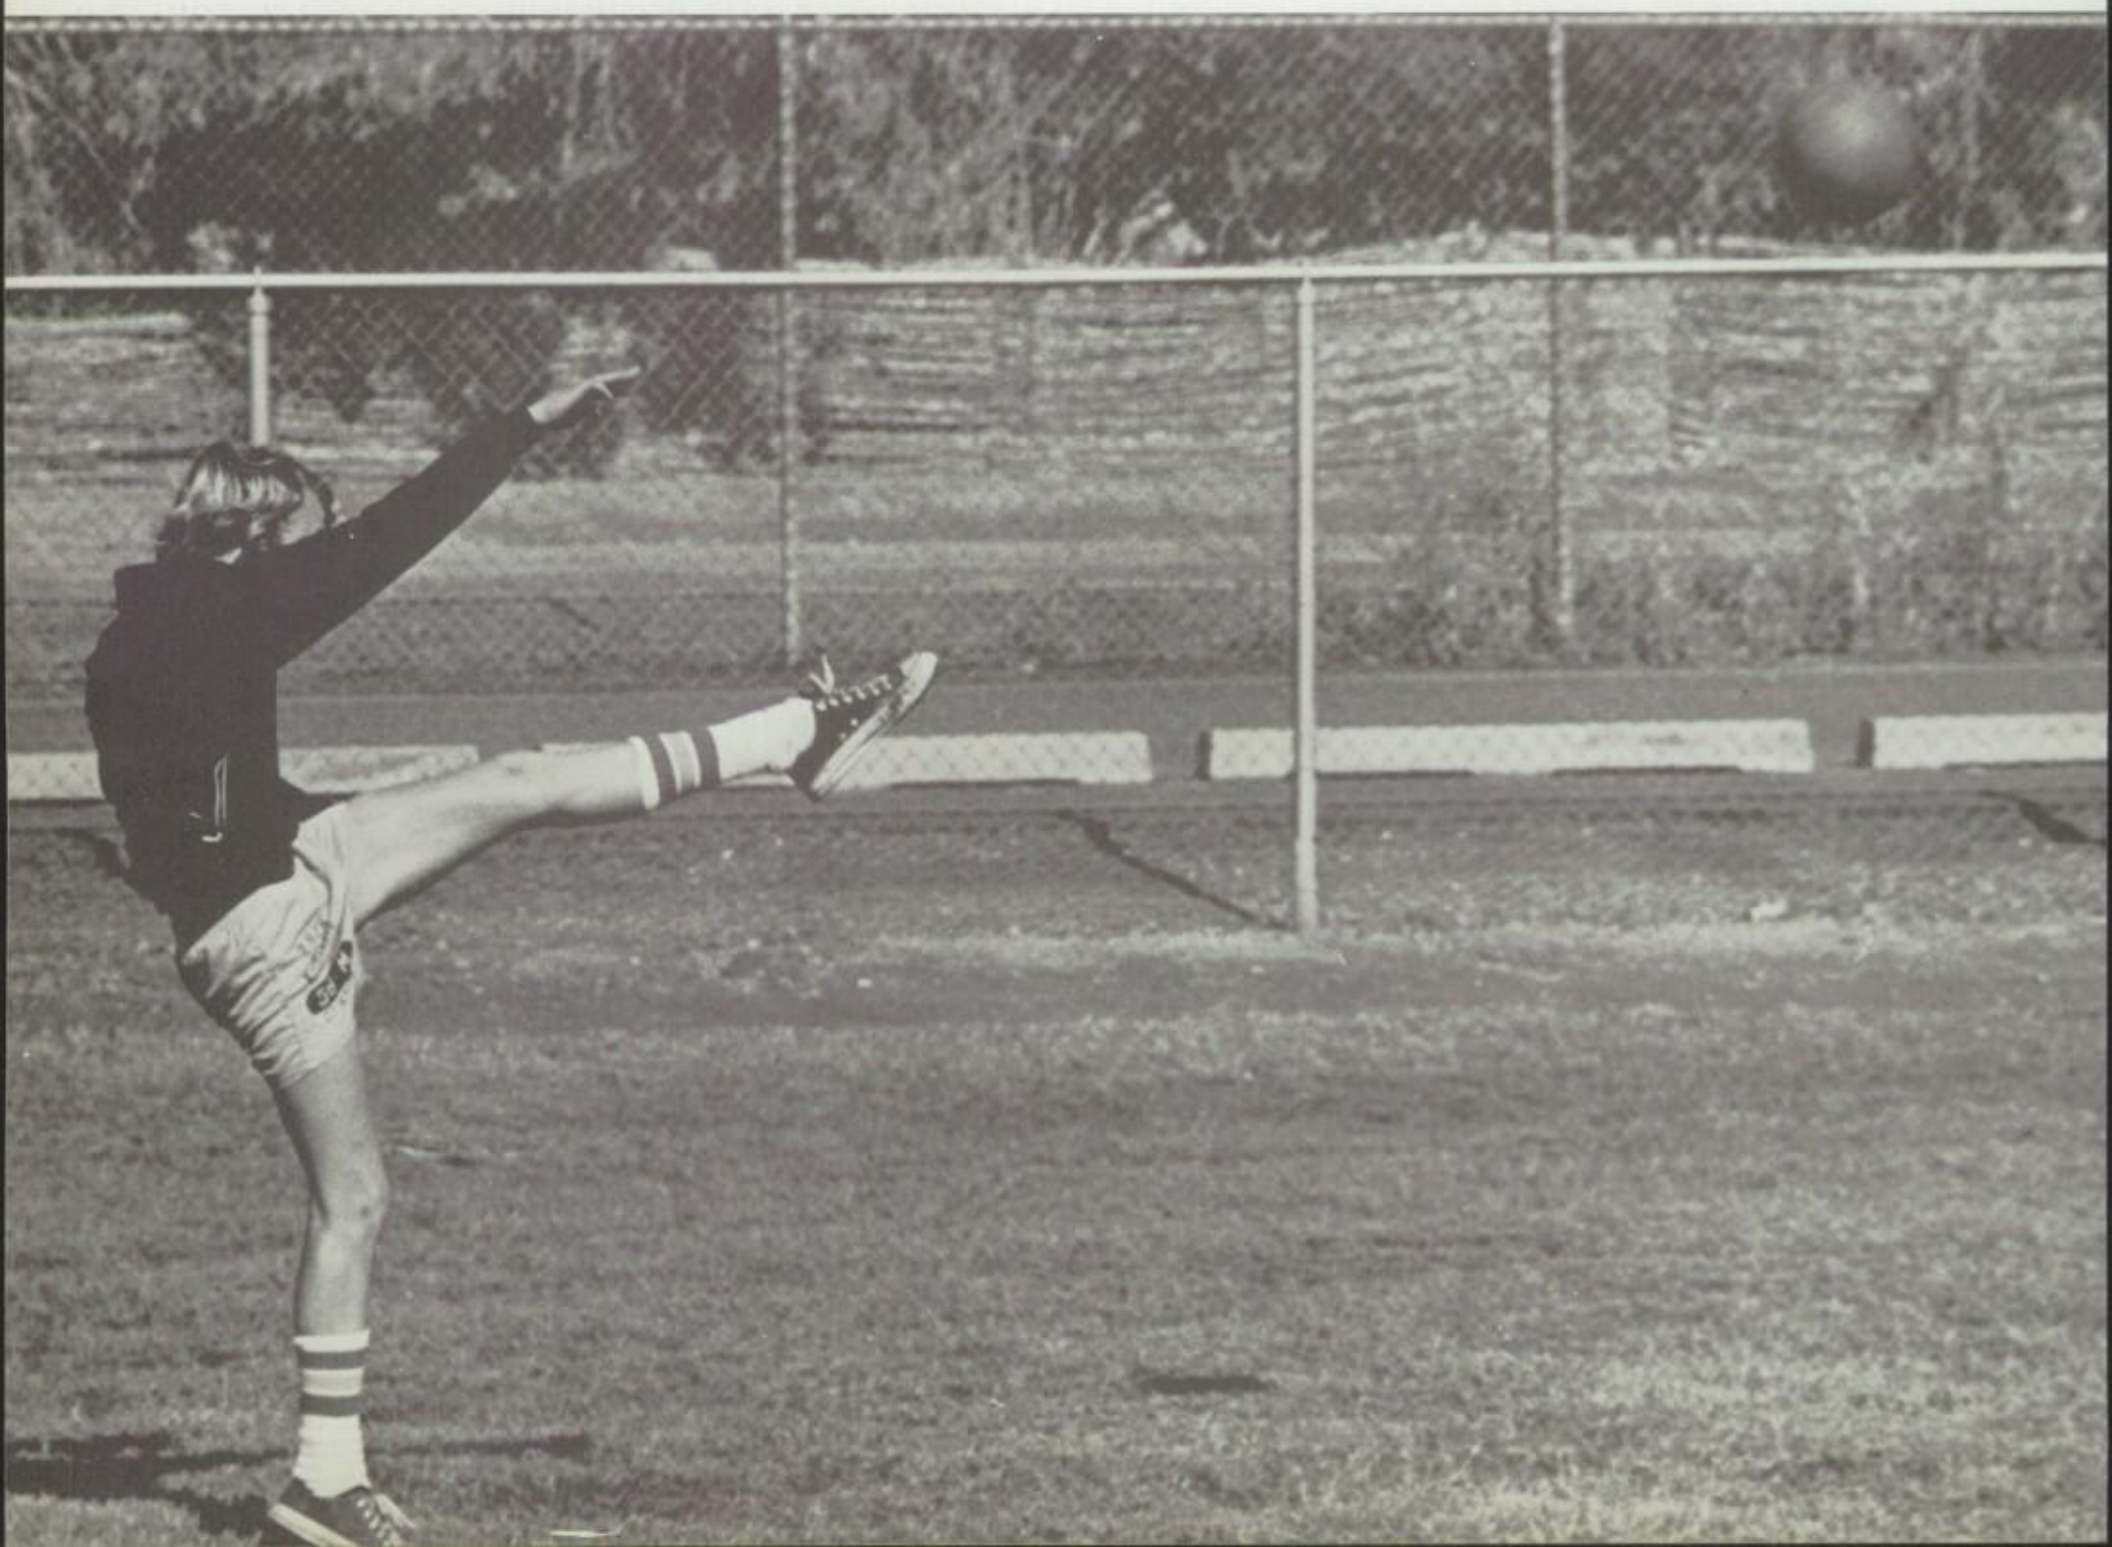
Even with the playoffs out of reach, the team refused to give up. The players held their enthusiasm during the final two games, losing to Maryvale 17-0 before dumping North 7-3. The Bobcats finished the season 5-5.

"We had an excellent season," head coach Bill Kee remarked after the final game. "At the start of the season we felt we had a good chance to make the playoffs. But the real testimony to the character of this team was the fact that when we knew we weren't going to make the playoffs, the kids were still enthusiastic. They didn't lose their enthusiasm for the game at all."

Much of the enthusiasm came from 10 men whom Coach Kee said were commendable to the squad. David Gibson averaged 7.1 yards per carry at half back for a total of 756 yards, and was picked on the first team all-divisional and second team all-state squads.

Also named to the first team all-divisional squad was defensive lineman Rick Nagle, the team's most inspirational player, and co-captain Travis Holcombe. Nagle also received second team all-state honors.

Other seniors who contributed to the success of the team were kicker Pete Torzala, defensive end John Suddarth, fullback Roger Kohrs, defensive back Lloyd Coker, and quarterback Roger Goettl.



JV Football. Jim Bradshaw, junior varsity football coach, felt his squad made a strong showing despite a 6-4 record. Even though the team lacked size and experience, and even though nine JV squad members were moved to the varsity, the team averaged over 200 yards offensively each game and maintained a strong defense. Team leaders included quarterback Robbie Wise, wingback and defensive back Joe Elias, running and defensive back Kenny Tims, defensive lineback John Coggins, lineman Doug Russell, and fullback Baron Swanky.

Frosh Heavyweight Football. The freshman heavyweight squad's dismal 1-9 record was highly misleading, according to coach Jack Dujanovic. "The other teams simply outmanned us," Coach Dujanovic stated, adding that talent and desire was there. The small squad fielded a team of only 15 players at some games. Leading the offense were running backs Mike Mackey and Steve Tutnick, while Duane Salway and Brett Sheets were defensive leaders.

Frosh Lightweight Football. The lightweight squad slipped from a 8-1 record last year to a 6-3 mark this season and a second place league finish. Coach Blake Moffat cited Kenny Ramseyer, offensive halfback, and Jose Martinez, defensive noseguard, as the team's outstanding performers.

Girls' Swimming. The girls' swimming team finished with a 3-3 mark, a comeback from last year's winless record. Karen Hurt, Alix Starikoff, Terri Zimmerman, Cara Bradley, Laurie Edmondson, Laurie Shee, Dana Kennedy, Sarah Weistart, Susan Weistart, and Samara Griffin represented Central High at the Skyline divisional meet, and four—Karen Hurt, Alix Starikoff, Cara Bradley, and Terri Zimmerman—qualified for the state. In state competition, Alix Starikoff placed 7th in the breast-stroke and 15th in the 200 yard individual medley. Coach Denise Peterson stated that the team members turned in some excellent individual performances.

Girls' Cross Country. Coach Roland Myers singled out Bonnie Tamis as being the spark behind the team's excellent 9-1 mark. Bonnie now holds Central High records on the 1 1/2 and 2-mile courses, and holds records at four other school courses as well. Other fine runners included Laurie Magnusson, Debbie Levine, Joanna Goodfarb, and Robin Welliever. The only loss came from rival Camelback, who edged the Bobcats by three points on the tough Camelback course.

Boys' Cross Country. Coach Elton Tietz felt his squad would have repeated as the Phoenix Divisional champions had it not been for injuries. The team's only blemish in a 9-1 record came from Maryvale, the divisional champs.

Ryan Sales and Mark Van Benschoten finished 1-2 in most meets, but the squad was also led by junior Tim Surridge, senior Darrell Sandman, and freshman Ron Johnson.

Varsity and JV Volleyball. The varsity volleyball squad finished with a 3-9 mark, which was still good enough to get them into post season play. In the divisional contest against Maryvale, the Bobcats lost; Maryvale went on to capture the state championship.

"Our team was young, and we're trying to build for next year," Coach Linda Karl remarked. Among the outstanding performers on this squad were Sheila Gossett, chosen the team's most valuable player, Kim Corley, and Rachel Mollman.

The junior varsity team recorded a 2-6 mark, with Elsa Caballero and Marcelle Song turning in consistently solid performances.

Varsity and JV Badminton. "We had an outstanding group of young ladies who were dedicated to badminton and performed their best," Coach Harriet Mitton said of the badminton squad which posted a 5-6 record during the fall season. The team was led by Peggy Ramseyer, Lori Herrscher, and Sherri Harris, who won nine while losing only three of their matches. The doubles team of Sherri Harris and Peggy Ramseyer captured the divisional title with an overpowering victory in the finals.

Kyle Pierce posted an 8-2 record for the year in leading the junior varsity badminton team to a 4-6 mark.

Boys' Freshman Tennis. Central's freshman boys' tennis team, otherwise known as the Chinese Bandits, finished the year as league co-champion with Alhambra and Camelback. "The team worked hard and should have won all their matches," Coach Silcox remarked, "but sickness prevented it." The Bandits, who finished 10-1, lost only to Alhambra when the two top Bobcat racketeers were ill.

The team was led during the year by Mike Hammon, Robbie Ross, Glen Biglaiser, and Dave Shano.

Girls' Freshman Tennis. The girls' freshman tennis team slapped its way to a perfect 11-0 season, with Julie Kirschner, Adrian Linsenmeyer, Lindsey Florez, Susan Adler, and Tammie Cohen headlining the 16-member squad. Coach Jenny Mayer praised her top five players, but added that all team members performed well during the year. The team was "scared" only twice during the year, but the tennis girls' survived with 6-5 wins against both Camelback and Maryvale.

Faculty

Learning is more than ''classrooms and textbooks,''as the opening pages of this book indicate. Yet something called ''education,'' whatever it is, does occur in the classrooms--and it does involve textbooks.

The instructional program at Central High during the 1977-78 school year was enhanced by the completion of one construction project, and hindered by the start of another. The new auditorium, a $2.5 million facility, was officially dedicated in the fall and provided classrooms for performing arts and lecture rooms for films and guest speakers.

But the new auditorium was no sooner completed when a new project began. The remodeling immediately affected the administration wing and library, causing the library to move to what was formerly the ''cafeteria annex'' and the administration offices to occupy the old performing arts and faculty lounge areas.

The changes in the physical structure at Central High were matched by changes in the curriculum and faculty as well. Among the more notable changes are those listed below.

Counseling.* Among the new programs offered by the Counseling Department (which, by the way, was also relocated to the portables near the handball courts) were the junior and senior seminars and the study skill classes. The seminars are designed to acquaint students with vocations, and the study skill classes are open to students in need of improved study habits. Joyce Sanders, formerly department chairman of Girls' Physical Education, joined the staff this year to replace Elizabeth Leftwich.

Reading.* A class in English as a Second Language was offered by the Reading Department for the first time, and programs in tutoring and resource were offered as well. Lindsey Alpert was the department's only new addition, having returned from a year's leave.

Business.* New to the Business Department this year are 20 IBM Selectrics, one memory typewriter, one teacher (Randall Mertz from New York), and two new classes. Shorthand I, offered to seniors only, was initiated as a second semester class, and Clerical Procedures was added to train the student assistants.

English.* Freshman at Central High this year will be required to meet the state-mandated minimal writing objectives before high school graduation, and juniors are now required to take one semester of composition and one semester of literature. Five teachers were also added to the department: Jim Waugh, Kathryn Romley, Cindy Martin, Debra Morton, and Julie Kennedy.

Performing Arts.* As a result of the new auditorium facilities, Performing Arts added a piano lab with 20 stations and a guitar lab with 24 stations.

Home Economics.* Home Economics will also benefit from the remodeling and have more classroom space when the remodeling is completed. The class Single Survival this year was changed to one semester and included a survey of the basics in all areas of home economics.

Industrial Arts.* Woodshop, Power Mechanics, and Graphic Arts were new courses offered by Industrial Arts this year. Students in Graphic Arts published the school newspaper for the first time ever due to the acquisition of process camera and printing facilities. Harold Baldwin, formerly a member of the Art Department, moved to Industrial Arts this year.

Science.* While no new science classes were offered during 1977-78, equipment such as a balance and sphygonometer for biology and an analytical balance in chemistry was added. Two new teachers joined the staff: Stephen Racioppi from New Jersey and James Thomas from North High.

Social Science.* Two instructors, George Crenshaw and Lewis Foote, were added to the Social Science staff this year.

Physical Education.* Linda Karl was named acting Girls' Physical Education Department Chairperson this year, and the department added four new members. Robert Jennings and Lee Bolen joined Boys' Physical Education, while Kathleen Kinnerup and Jennifer Mayer were added to Girls' Physical Education.

Mathematics.* Two new teachers were added to the Math Department: Rita Simon from Lansing, Mich., and David Yamamoto from Thunderbird High in Glendale.

Winter Activities

The holiday season at Central High was celebrated with performances by the concert band, the concert choir, and the choraliers—the first musical groups to use Central's new auditorium. The groups gave performances for the student body during morning assemblies, and a night show for parents as well.

Under the advisement of Debra Morton, the Central High Echoes produced a 14-page Christmas edition. In an effort to expand reporting activities, the Echoes staff concentrated more on short school news items and less on lengthy feature material.

Performance Dance gave its first solo presentation in December. Director Kathy Kinnerup, in her first year at Central, molded a precision unit from her 10-member group.

Central's Student Senate sponsored two musical assemblies in January, including the Air Force Band. A karate demonstration assembly was given Feb. 24, and the senate planned two activities—a talent show and a '50's week—for the spring.

Central High Masque and Gavel produced "Sabrina Fair" during February, a modern Cinderella story with a Long Island setting. Performing in the play were Joy Milstead, Steve Simonson, Sheryl Stewart, Jeff Saad, Bob Fergison, Liz Shafton, and Shane Ronay.

The goal of the Choraliers is to develop their vocal abilities and to sing music especially designed to be performed by women's voices. Literature this year includes everything from contemporary ballads to vocal classics of the masters. The Choraliers are directed by Bernie Rolfe.

The Concert Choir, directed by Bernie Rolfe, has developed into a powerful, agile group able to handle literature which would be demanding of professionals. The diverse literature encompassed several areas of musical endeavor—from novelty fun songs to concert pieces of intense energy.

The Chamber Singers are directed by Bernie Rolfe. As any professional musician will tell you, performing different styles of music competently requires intelligence and musical proficiency. Added to these musical demands are the choreography and personal intensity required in the good performances given by the Chamber singers 1977-78. The group has sung for several professional activities and has been highly praised.

Performance Dance

This year's Central Echoes Staff members acquired a "journalistic-spirit" early in the fall. After the staff was organized, the editors, photographers and reporters set out to cover all campus events for the first issue.

According to Debra Morton, newspaper adviser, the Echoes staff had a successful year. "I look forward to many of this year's students returning next year and also to the new students who will join us in the fall."

Letters to the Editor

Editor:

I believe the Central High students have lost their school spirit. The school spirit has been declining yearly since my freshman year. I know, we the students, could bring alive school spirit again by becoming more involved in athletic functions, student government, and extra-curricular clubs on campus.

School spirit is not totally lost in athletic functions. There is a great percentage of students attending the football games. That's great for spirit during football season, but what about the rest of the year? We need to show more spirit and enthusiasm towards the other athletics.

There is a lot of school spirit coming from the student body officers. They have millions of great ideas for student activities. One activity that the student government class sponsors a great deal of are the after-game dances. If the students would attend the dances more often, I think the dances would start to come out okay. Another activity student government has to sponsor are the assemblies. The attendance of students at assemblies is low. If more students would go we could really have some great assemblies.

A great deal of the memberships in the clubs at Central have been declining. The clubs are slowly disappearing. I think they are going because the students have lost interest in them. We need to try to regenerate some interest in the clubs again, maybe by starting some new types of clubs, or else having the clubs already established, campaigning for new members.

Once the students get involved and interested in the athletic functions, student government, clubs and other extra curricular activities we will see a definite rise in the students school spirit.

Lynda Robson

To The Editor:

Everyone has their bad days, both student and teachers, and all must learn to make the best of their individual situations without heaping abuse on others.

The teachers at Central are among the best in Arizona, respected as professionals among their peers, but it is not professional when a teacher unnecessarily jumps on a student because of possible home problems.

Teachers can make their point with a little control and avoid hurting students' feelings. With a little understanding by all concerned, scholastic life can be made more enjoyable.

Editor's corner

This year the Echoes is completely student-run, aside from the guiding hand of our new adviser, Miss Morton.

The Echoes is completely student-produced, from the writing and editing of the articles, to the layout and actual printing of the paper. But what is important is not so much the fact that the paper is student-run, but that these students are enthusiastic about what they are doing.

Enthusiasm in a project is infectious. And there is certainly a lot of enthusiasm on the Echoes staff. Not only is there enthusiasm, there is a factor which helps to keep the enthusiasm circulating — talent.

There is, I think, more talent on the staff this year than there has been in many years. It is this talent that makes the paper something both the staff and the school can be proud of. The Echoes still has a way to go from its old name and glory to a name and reputation Central can be proud of. But look at the progress made in this one issue and the change will be evident.

Complete student production is what makes the difference this year. Now that the Echoes is produced by students, for students, it invites more students to help in its production. And the more students there are on the staff, at least in the Echoes' case, the more talent there will be.

Talent is present from every angle. It can be seen in the structure of many of the articles and in the black ink printed on this page. Not only are there student writers and reporters on the Echoes, there are also students, namely those in Mr. Davis' graphics class, who print the Echoes in its final form. Central's paper is now a complete student oriented project.

This paper, particularly this first issue, has become a learning project for all of those involved. The students who put it together learned by trial and error. As the editor, although I'm a little biased, I think the Echoes staff has done a tremendous job of giving the paper one heck of a face lift.

'Deep-rooted society' requires all interests

Specialization has become an important facet of every phase of modern life. There are scholars who will spend years studying a single word or phrase, and there are football players who can only kick extra points.

In this age of specialization, many have drifted toward improving only one facet of their personality or developing only one of their several talents. Many have neglected improving their total self, and have become shallow human beings.

Some athletes have looked at straight "1" students and classified them as "eggheads." These "eggheads" are sometimes small weak people who spend five hours after school studying, and spend no time participating in any physical activities. Sadly enough, there are those who totally neglect any kind of physical activity.

Then there are those in the "intellectual class" who feel that athletes are clowns whose goals in life are to knock heads, show off, and date cheerleaders. To them an athlete is one who lacks intelligence. This, too, is sometimes the case.

We have failed to look at others and their situations. We cannot understand the position of another until we experience what he or she experiences. We may not particularly like football, but we should not look at it from an outsider's point of view. Likewise, the athlete should experience plays, concerts, etc. so that he can begin to understand the other person's point of view.

It is not until we accept and integrate every phase of education into our lives that we are able to comprise a truly rich and deep rooted society.

But our society cannot have depth until its citizens have depth. Let's shed our old ideals of being an athlete or a non-athlete and experience all of life.

Winter Sports

Varsity Basketball. For the second year in a row, one game stood between the Central High Bobcats and a state tournament berth. In both cases, the game was against Phoenix Union and played at Brophy Prep.

And, in both cases, the Bobcats lost.

"We were physically drained," Coach Barry Zarecky explained. "The East game took a lot out of the team, but they still gave it all they had. This was definitely my best group of players since I've been at Central."

Central High entered the divisionals with a 14-8 record and drew Trevor Browne in the first round. The Bruins, who had defeated Central 77-64 earler in the year, were upset on their home court 54-49, and the Bobcats moved on to face No. 2 ranked East.

Playing at Brophy Prep, East used its depth and "muscle" to overcome Central's patterned offense. The Longhorns ended with a 54-44 win, and the tired Bobcat squad had one last chance for the state. Central fell behind 19-10 in the first quarter of the Phoenix Union game, though, and never regained their momentum.

The Bobcats were guided during the year by Chet McBroom, a 6-foot-4 senior who led the team in rebounding and scoring. Chet was named on the second team all-league squad, and was an honorable mention on the all-divisional team. Mike Johnston pumped in 12 points, five assists, and five steals per game, and Brian Walker was the team's most consistent shooter. Mike was named to the second team all-league squad, and Brian was an all-league honorable mention.

Greg Collins was credited by Coach Zarecky as the team's most consistent defensive performer, and Brad Pierzchalski was a team player who could also hit the outside shot. The team was also helped by seniors Jerry Ball, Dave Pilch, John Lamb, and Roger Goettl.

"Our philosophy was to get control of the tempo," Coach Zarecky said. "We were definitely a defense oriented ball club. Next year we've got some good material coming back, and we plan to do the same thing. We should be strong."

Junior Varsity Basketball. Despite a strong 12-7 record, Coach Lynn South felt that his team could have had a spectacular season if it had won the close ones. "We lost six of those seven games by four points or less," Coach South remarked.

The JV squad relied on Lloyd Coker, Robbie Wise, Greg Relf, Brian Van Horn, and Louis Lukens for most of its scoring, yet Lloyd was lost with an injured ankle after eight games and Greg spent half the season with the varsity. Other contributors were Todd Maughan and Dave Larson.

Frosh Grey Basketball. Coach Blake Moffat singled out Mike Jackson and Dwayne Salway as the leading contributors to the Frosh Grey Squad. Mike averaged 20 points per game, while Dwayne grabbed 10 boards in leading the team to a 56 point-per-game average. Other contributors were Troy Lawton and Jim Wright.

"Our record was only 6-12, but the problem was a lack of depth," Coach Moffat said.

Frosh Red Basketball. Coach Bill Kee's squad compiled a 10-7 record with what the coach regarded as "a great deal of physical talent." The only difficulty, Coach Kee added, was "adopting to a team style of play."

Coach Kee praised Brett Sheets and Roy Track for their play, and felt that Mike Ruiz, Brad Armstrong, Phil Robinson, and Mark Simpson were outstanding additions to the squad.

Varsity Softball. Arizona's wet winter hampered the softball squad, and contributed to the team's 5-11 record. Several games were postponed in mid-January when Phoenix received three inches of rainfall, and the loss of practice left the team "rusty" when play resumed.

Coach Jim Brown cited Peggy Ramseyer and Martha Thompson, who were named to the all-league team, as the squad's most valuable players, but he also praised catcher Sherri Harris, freshman shortstop Marcelle Song, third baseman Lorrie Feightner, and outfielder Karen Hurt.

Central was defeated 11-1 by Alhambra in the first round of divisional play.

Junior Varsity Softball. Coach Linda Karl was happy with the JV team's 6-7 record, noting that it was "A better season than last year" when the team finished 3-13. Coach Karl relied on Libby Mosier, Barbara Lewis, Paula Peabody, Adela Guajardo, and Kelly Bolinger for team leadership.

Varsity Wrestling. Head Coach Jim Bradshaw felt that the Central High Varsity Wrestling squad faced its toughest competition in his three years of coaching at Central. "While our record was only 3-7, that does not reflect on the effort made by our team. We had some good wrestlers here, but we faced some extremely tough competition."

Ken Kunes, grappling his way to a 18-6 record, was the team leader this year. Ken was Central's only representative in the state tournament, but he failed to place in the meet. Finishing second to Ken in individual statistics was John Pifer.

Coach Bradshaw relied on several sophomores, including standouts Danny Simons (98 pounds) and Donny Simons (119 pounds). Barron Swanky and Howard Fischer, both sophomores, also turned in strong performances.

"It was the best group of kids I've worked with since I've been here at Central," Coach Bradshaw stated. "The morale was good, and we have some good wrestlers coming up next year from the freshman and JV squads."

The wrestling mentor praised Steve Heely as the most improved wrestler, and Ray Preston for his team leadership. Scott Schubert, a junior, also contributed to the squad.

Junior Varsity Wrestling. Coach Gearge Crenshaw led the JV grapplers to a 4-7 team mark, and felt that the team's main problem was the constant shifting of JV wrestlers to the varsity. As a result, the JV squad was short of men and had to forfeit several weights each match. "Many times we had to forfeit five weights out of 13. At that rate, it's hard to win the match."

Coach Crenshaw felt that Howard Fischer, Stacy Russell, and Baron Swanky were his squad's best wrestlers, and that David Erlich was the "most improved."

Freshman Wrestling. Coach Jack Dujanovic relied on wrestlers Steven Steffee, Jeff Davidson, Merrill McMaken, Brad Cochran, and Jose Martinez in posting an 8-3 record despite forfeiting three weight classes for many matches. The strong freshman squad, Coach Dujanovic felt, would help both the JV and varsity squads next year.

Girls' Golf. Inconsistency, winter illnesses, and a lack of depth were contributing factors in Central's weak record in girls' golf. The team, which had only five members at top strength, lost Julie Scott at mid-season with an injured leg. Other team members were Lisa Gudahl, Danette Winchester, Chris LaPointe, and Laurel Huey.

Boys' Golf. Coach Ken Troutt depended on returning lettermen Joe Beers, Evan Green, Scott Tinkham, and Mike Mackelroy for depth in this year's golf season. Other team members were Bill Ellington, Mike Monbleau, Craig Davis, Ben Ceausu, Steve Hamas, and Greg Collins.

Classes

Organizing floats for homecoming and sponsoring fund-raising activities were the major activities of the Central High class organizations.

In the fall, the junior class won first place in the float competition with a mock "malt shop," narrowly edging the seniors in the eyes of the judges. All classes were involved in numerous homecoming activities, including the sponsoring of the homecoming dance.

"We wanted to get the students involved, but the students have to be aware and take advantage of the opportunities put before them," senior class president Denise Dreiseszun stated. "Homecoming, as a whole, went over well, and the senior class worked hard."

Denise added that the senior class tried to leave its mark by pursuing needed school changes. Among these changes were modifications of the graduation ceremony, the senior trip, organizing a block party, and choosing a worthy gift as a graduation present. The senior class also donated money to the American Foreign Exchange program early in the year.

Assisting Denise were Linda Ramseyer as vice president, Ross Yukolis as treasurer, and Marjorie Magnusson as secretary.

The junior class, apart from winning the float competition, sponsored the junior-senior prom in the spring. Class officers were Lisa Nau, president; Scott Schubert, vice president; Mick Murphy, treasurer; and Rachel Markovitz, secretary.

The sophomore class ordered class rings and conducted several fund raisers to make up for a $75 loss on their first money-making try—a dance in September. Officers were Tamera Nelson, president; Brian Mariscal, vice president; Heather Newman, secretary; and Jill Goldsmith, treasurer.

Freshman class officers Andrea Horwitz, Debbie Gordon, Stephanie Antilla, and Julie Beeler guided class participation in homecoming, senate week, the block party, and in sponsoring a dance in March.

In an attempt to join the student body and class officer structures, the student body sponsored "Senate Week" in March. The goal was to develop an interaction between students and their representatives, and the week was highlighted by discussions designed to improve class communication.

The old man cried
muffled sobs screamed
with loneliness.
And I stood, aching,
my soul shriveling
with a sharp longing to comfort him.
But in one agonizing moment
he was like me and I could do nothing.

There is something somewhere
In this world a creator
a maker
a God
Because nature is too perfect
To be an accident.

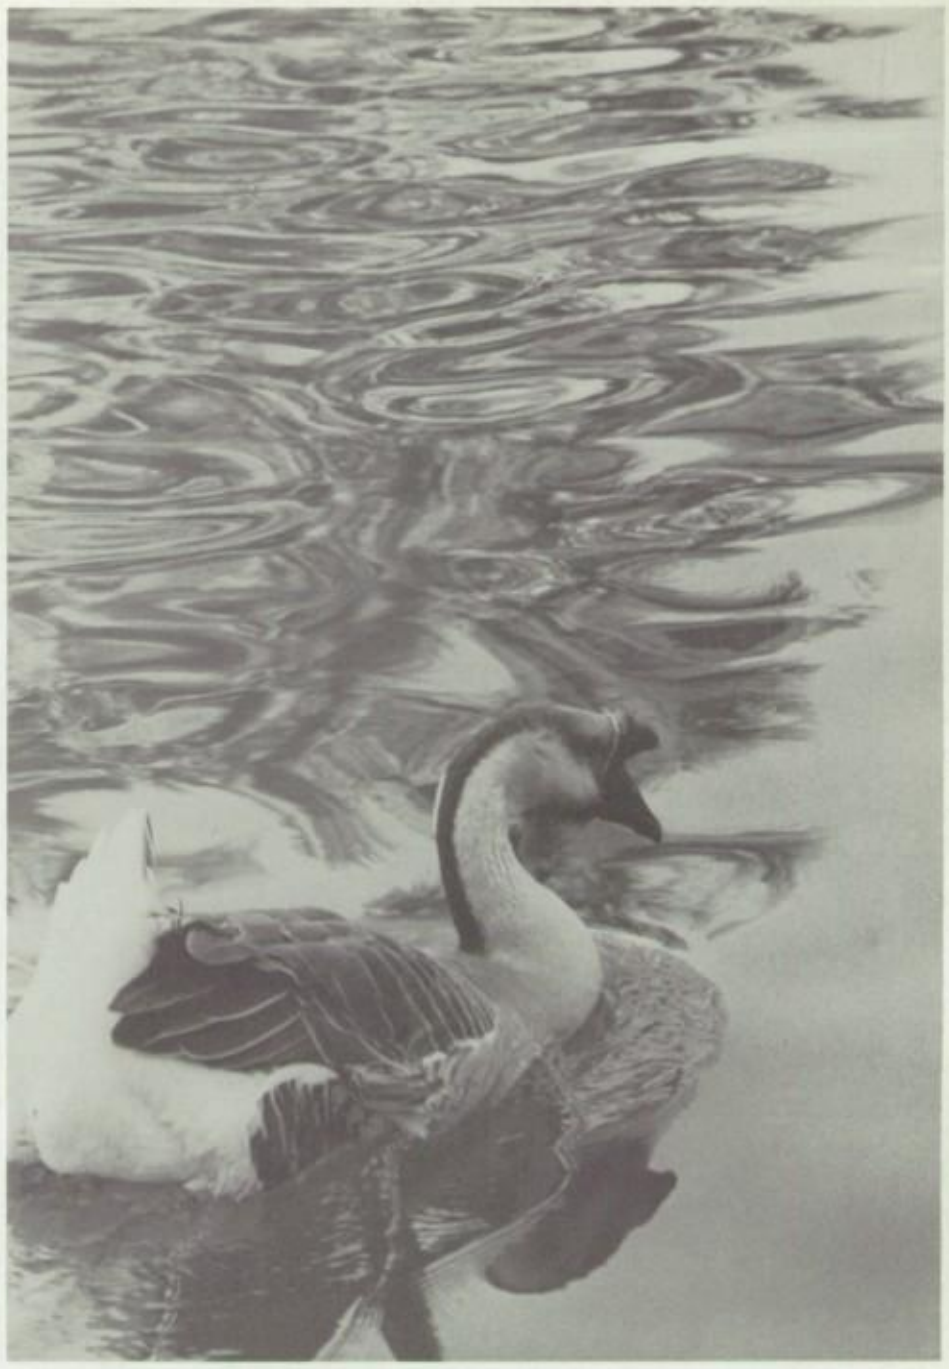
Spring Activities



Spring, at Central High School, means a week's vacation, Rodeo Day, and graduation. In 1978, the spring activities also included concerts by the band and vocal groups and the May production of "Oklahoma" in the new auditorium.

Due to deadline schedules, the Centralian was unable to include most of the spring events into the yearbook. This section does include activities such as Girls' and Boys' State, Powder Puff basketball, clubs, and concert and jazz band.

Foreign Exchange. Central High was "home" this year to three foreign exchange students — two of which came from Oslo, Norway. Erling Barth, 18, found American schools less demanding academically, but more "fun" socially than schools in his native Norway. During the year Erling served as president of AFS, his sponsoring organization, and became a member of Challenge. Ida Scheie, 16, also from Norway, was sponsored by Youth for Understanding and belonged to Challenge, AFS, and served as a yearbook staff member. Gabriella Martoy, 18, from Montevideo, Uruguay, participated in AFS and the Activities class.

Challenge. Formed several years ago by the PAK foundation, Challenge at Central High consists of two "Prides," or groups. Students in Challenge learn to both appreciate and "survive" in the outdoors, and activities center on hiking, camping, back-packing, river-running, rock climbing, and ways in which the ecological balance can be protected. Students in Challenge last summer climbed Mt. Ranier, and in previous years students have been involved in numerous projects such as a 1974 trip down the Colorado River inspecting the camelthorn weed. Other than an appreciation of nature, Challenge promotes leadership and self-reliance.

Concert/Jazz Band. Along with concerts in Central's auditorium, the Concert Band performed at the Mountain State Music Festival at Grady Gammage Auditorium and toured out-of-state for four days. The Jazz Band, apart from performances at Central High basketball games, held concerts every month. Most concerts have featured guest musicians from different high schools in the Phoenix area.

This year, Challenge continues to be one of the more active organizations on campus. Through their many activities, they strive to develop creative leadership, knowledge of the out-of-doors, and how to get along with the wilderness. Their experiences took them to all parts of the state through mountain climbing, backpacking and Cross-country skiing. Mountain, desert, and snow survival as well as caving has taught the group how to exist in many situations. Challenge also keeps busy building and maintaining trails in the White Mountains and on Squaw Peak.

Spring Sports

Varsity Baseball. Coach Jack Dujanovic felt that the "talent is there" for a strong 1978 Varsity baseball season.

Although the season was barely one game old at press time, Coach Dujanovic felt that the slugging of outfielder Mark Bush, the pitching of Kevin Randall, Vent Robbins, John Porter, and Dave Hill, and the fielding of Gary Honanie, Danny Tang, Bob Frey, and Ken Tims would form the nucleus of a sound team. Coach Dujanovic is in his first season as head baseball coach.

Junior Varsity Baseball. Coach Blake Moffat reported that his 1978 squad was depending on Wade Sager and Chuck Van Vleck in its bid for a winning season. The main problem, Coach Moffat said, was the wet spring weather which forced the cancellation of several early-season games.

Frosh Baseball. "It's hard to say what the season will be like since no games have been played," Coach Dean Hauf, freshman baseball coach, reported. "We are optimistic, though, that the season will be successful."

Coach Hauf said that the leading team members should be David Waugh, Troy Lawton, Mark Senseman, Steve Netherton, and Ken Wood.

Archery. Central High this year was scheduled to host the divisional and state archery tournaments, and Coach Harriet Mitten hoped that a few of her seven archery performers would be represented. Archery team members include Patty Trump, Holly Nicholls, Sheri Sypherd, Lori Rozema, Kathy Holmes, Cheri Thralls, Kelly Towne, and Diana Stier.

Varsity Girls' Tennis. New coach Jenny Mayer, inheriting a strong tennis tradition at Central High, felt confident that this season would be a success. In the first meet, the West High Invitational, Lynda Robson captured first in singles while the doubles' team of Anne Mason and Anne Shavers also finished first. Other promising team members are Ellen Friedman, and Stephanie Parker.

Junior Varsity Girls' Tennis. Coach Jenny Mayer is hopeful that Tammie Cohen, Julie Kirschner, Kyle Pierce, Deanna Prock, Lindsey Florez, and Jody Reemer will guide the team toward a winning season.

Boys' Varsity Tennis. Sweeping through the West High Invitational tourney in fine fashion, the Bobcat Varsity team is expected to finish the season with few — if any — losses. Coach Dave Silcox banks his hopes on Todd Mason, ranked second in the Southwest, and John Levine, ranked eighth in the country. "East and Alhambra will be tough," Coach Silcox said, "but I'm certain we can win the divisional and state tourneys."

Junior Varsity Tennis. Coach Dave Silcox described the junior varsity squad as "young, but good" and expects Jamie Norrid, Paul Converti, and Brian Mariscal to be the top performers.

Girls' Varsity Track. "We have a good chance to win divisionals this year," Coach Elton Tietz said of his varsity girls' track squad. "Last year we took second in the divisionals and ninth in the state, and we're much improved."

Runners returning to this year's team are Eileen Keil, Julie Varner, Bonnie Tamis, Laurie Kline, Kim Corley, and Lori Herrscher. In addition, Coach Tietz has high hopes for freshmen Mary McGuffie and Kathleen Bush.

Girls' Junior Varsity Track. With 46 girls on the squad, Coach Elton Tietz feels that this year's JV squad is "the best ever" and that "They should go undefeated." Among the top tracksters are Joanna Goodfarb, Jeri Varner, Lisa Rohrer, Pam Hill, Julie Beeler, and Julie Crawford.

Boys' Varsity Track. New head coach Bob Jennings expects this year's varsity squad to have "an average year," with the toughest league competition coming from Alhambra and Maryvale. Coach Jennings, though, expects big things from sprinters Lamar Johnson, Jim McGuinn, and George Childress, runners Ryan Sales and Mick Murphy, and pole vaulter Steve Colletti.

Boys' Junior Varsity Track. "We're hurting in depth, but I'm hoping for a good season," Coach Bob Jennings said of his JV team. He is depending on Bruce Relf and Robbie Bowman to lead the team to four or five wins — and possibly more.

Frosh Track. Pole vaulter Joe Colletti, shot putter Dennis Tims, and runner Mike Roper are expected to carry the weight for the team, Coach Bob Yordani reported.

Boys' Swimming. Coach Bill Kee expects co-captains Mike Manson and Gary Biglaiser to lead this year's squad to a winning season. Team members Phil Gyori, Brian Rimmer, Randy Blum, Brad Gyori, Kirt Lipson, Jack Cage, and Rick Nagle are also expected to contribute to the team effort.

Karen Hurt, Editor

My four years at Central High have been filled with goals — some achieved and some not — and accomplishments — some expected, and some not. Being editor of your yearbook, which has been a personally rewarding experience, must rank in the "unexpected accomplishment" category.

When I was chosen editor last spring, I decided that the Central "yearbook tradition" needed refinement. Although there are changes in many areas, the most noticeable are the new seasonal divisions and the abundance of artwork. All artwork in the yearbook, as well as the cover design, was drawn by Stan Tang.

Both hilarity and hard work went into the 1978 Centralian, leaving a myriad of memories: Saturday slavery, darkroom romances, the first semester exam, after-school hours (and hours and hours), pizza, Whataburgers and "Julie's Bar and Grill," the gruesome gallery, dreaded deadlines, and the ever-present darkroom humor.

This book would not be reality without the dedication and help of a great staff and their parents. Julie Wilkerson and Dan Hunting consistently provided the extra effort needed for a quality publication, and they deserve special recognition. A special thanks, also, should be given to Mr. Zimmerman for his support and confidence in my ability.

Our high school days will be remembered forever in the Centralian — so enjoy! I certainly enjoyed my part in making this book for you.

Karen
